"PROVISIONS FOR PROGRESS"

We, the members of the 1960 Oracle staff, are convinced that school is a necessary fundamental of one's childhood and adolescent years. A school involves many things — teachers, classes, sports, music, clubs, class plays, and dances. Each of these particular phases contributes to the students a principle of citizenship which is taken with them into the world. If blended together properly, these principles, or provisions, will direct each member of the 1960 graduating class to progress in his life work. Therefore, we are proud to claim

"PROVISIONS FOR PROGRESS"

as the theme for our 1960 Oracle.

Dedication

Perched on the last notch of the ladder, we, the 1960 graduating class, are taking one last look back before we step out into life. We have recalled both the gay and the sad moments, but through them all, we have recalled the figure of a friend--a friend who has been a wise counselor, an excellent teacher, and an understanding companion. The class of 1960 is, therefore, proud to dedicate this edition of the "Oracle" to Russell E. Sweitzer.

SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL
Luther W. Low

TO THE CLASS OF 1960:

The history of the world is a volumninous record of great progress. Paradoxically, in recent decades the rapidity of cultural growth has projected such confusion and complexity into the life of man that he gropes in darkness in an effort to meet new and constantly changing challenges.

However, in spite of the intricacies of the modern world, the approach to successful living is as changeless as the heavens above and is beautifully expressed in the following translation from ancient Sanskrit:

Listen to the exhortation of the dawn!
Look to this day!
For it is life, the very life of lives.
In its brief course lie all the verities
And realities of your existence:
    The bliss of growth,
    The glory of action,
    The splendor of beauty.
For yesterday is but a dream
And tomorrow is only a vision;
But today well lived makes
Every yesterday a dream of happiness,
And every tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well, therefore, to this day!
Such is the salutation of the dawn.

The Senior Class took a three-day trip on October 29, 30, and 31, 1960, to Washington, D. C., our national capital. The chaperones on the trip were Miss Elizabeth Mitcheltree, Miss Marian Zets, Mr. Melvin Walker, and Mr. Richard Hopkins. The Senior Class sponsored a dance after one of the home basketball games. During the year the seniors received their name cards, thank-you notes, and graduation announcements. By the end of May, they were all ready to walk home from school for a last time, but yet they hated to break up their twelve-year friendships so abruptly. So, as a final get-together, they all enjoyed a Class Day at Idora Park in the early part of June. Ray Bartholomew represented the Senior Class in the "My True Security" contest sponsored in March by the Shenango Valley Junior Chamber of Commerce. Representing the class in the homecoming court were Carole Lansdowne, homecoming queen, and Beverly Webb and Edith Woge were attendants. The faculty advisor was Mrs. Jack Gray.

An appetizing buffet lunch was served following the dance. "Hawaiian Cruise," the theme for the Jr.-Sr. Prom proved to be quite new and novel. The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of, by, and for boys studying Vocational Agriculture in secondary schools. Among other things, members learn through active participation to conduct and take part in a public meeting, to speak in public, to buy and sell co-operatively, to solve their own problems, to handle personal finances, and to assume civic responsibility. The F.F.A. demonstration entitled "Fires on Farms" placed ninth in the open class competition at the Pennsylvania Farm Show held in January at Harrisburg. The members of the team were Ed Thompson, Dick Tomko, and Bill Klumph. The club was also honored to stand back and watch Bill Klumph receive the coveted Keystone Farmer degree while at the farm show.

Besides a Christmas Party of their own, the members baked 80 dozen cookes for the Christmas party at the Warren State Hospital. While all of these parties were going on, F.H.A. was also working on a farm show demonstration called "Light for Living." The demonstration was presented on January 13, 1960, by Nanch Bish, Charlene Hughey, and Jane and Kay Morrison. It was awarded second place in the Electricity Competition. Also, at the farm show, Nancy Bish and Kay Morrison received the state F.H.A. degree honor of outstanding achievement. F.H.A. The prospect of condensing the school year to picture and story sounded easy to the 1960 Oracle Staff early in the fall. However, as plans were drawn up and as the actual work was begun, they discovered that in order to attain that goal they had to put forth unselfishly of their time, talents, and energy. The co-editors, Ray Bartholomew and Carolyn Aleksa, were well prepared to begin the direction of yearbook publication--they both attended the Second Annual Journalism Conference at Penn State University in June, 1959. The faculty advisor for the yearbook staff is Mrs. Margaret Hood.

In order to assist financially the production of the yearbook, the staff sold candy at wrestling matches and in the faculty rooms, sponsored a booth at the Village Green Fair on February 20, 1960, held a post-basketball game dance in the fall, and sold ribbon candy during the Christmas holidays.

The West Middlesex Big Reds managed to keep in step again this year in their march toward the best in basketball. They attained the excellent record of 21 wins and 7 losses and also repeated their District 9-10 victory to gain entrance to the Western Regional Finals. Here they had to cope with a little tougher team, the Wampum Indians. They bowed before the Indians 51-37, but not before displaying their basketball talents. The team

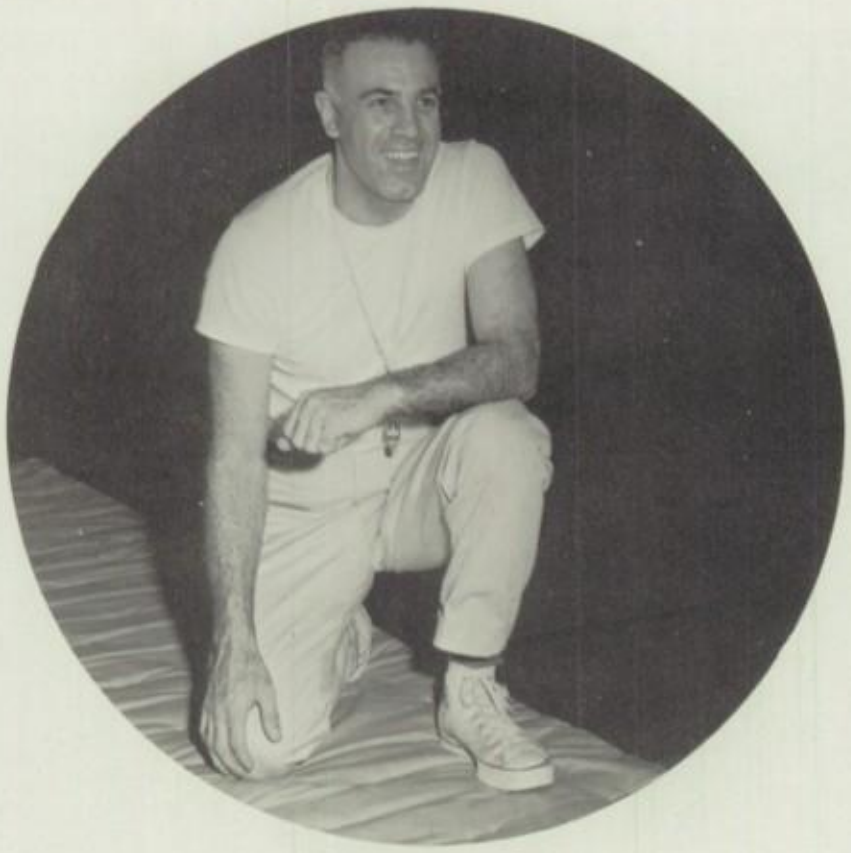
Farewell



Mr. James Marcolivio

For the past ten years West Middlesex High School has been proud to claim Mr. James Marcolivio as its varsity basketball coach. It was under his direction that this school won a State Class C championship, carried off two Western Regional Class C. titles, took three District 10 Class C crowns, and clinched five county contests.

Words cannot express the high esteem and respect that the students of this high school have had for Mr. Marcolivio throughout the past ten years. As we see him retire from his coaching position, we congratulate him for the honors and prestige that he has brought to West Middlesex High School.

Of these three, Byron Sieg wrestled in the actual finals. He is to be congratulated, especially since this was his first year of wrestling. Moreover, this was the first year that West Middlesex competed in the district tournament. The team placed fifth of the eight teams participating. Mr. Melvin Walker has been the coach.

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team, coached by Mr. Norbert Borowicz, brought home an impressive record of 15 wins and six losses. It was tough going at first, but once the boys got their foothold, they set a pace of nine straight wins. The J.V.'s will lose some of their height to next year's varsity team, but with the help of some of the Jr. High Tri-county Champs they expect to maintain their excellent record.

Jr. Varsity Cheerleaders

M. O'Pat, M. Gault, V. Webb, C. Groce.

Our cheerleaders, sharply dressed in red and white, formed the energetic nucleus which encouraged school spirit at all athletic events. They backed our Big Reds through victory and defeat. Rocking the rafters of the gym, these girls and the students gave out with roars of pep and enthusiasm at the rallies preceding the basketball play-off games. Two of the girls' favorite cheers are:

We've got a t-e-a-m
That's on the b-e-a-m
We've got a team
That's on the beam
That's hep to the jive.
Come on, Big Reds,
Skin 'em alive!

We've got a team and we've got a skipper.
We've got a team that works like a zipper.

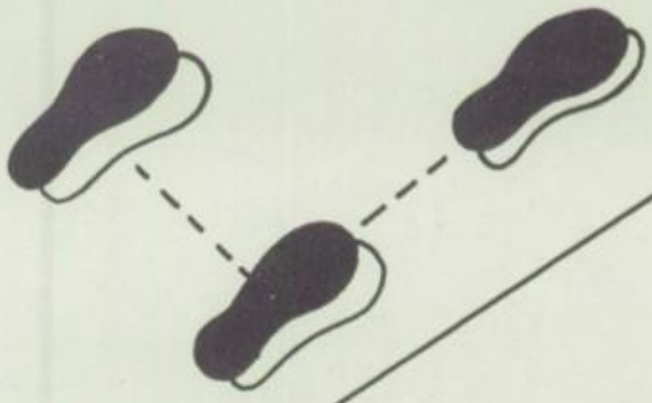
MUSIC - DRAMA - SOCIAL



Good News

For the first time in the Shenango Valley Area, the music department of West Middlesex High School was proud to present! "Good News" on April 1 and 2, 1960.

This musical comedy was centered around the college campus hero caught in the midst of two conflicts, a French exam, and the important rival football game. Comedy, romance, and music were blended together to produce a delightful evening for the audience. The entire undertaking was under the supervision of Mr. Edwin Tobin, Mr. Alan Wolfe, Miss Elizabeth Cobler, and Mr. Richard Hopkins.

The chorus dancers have fun rehearsing their dance steps to the lively collegiate tunes of "Varsity Drag," "The Best Things in Life are Free," and "Good News."

Junior Class Play

The Junior Class Play was a rollicking comedy entitled, "Onions in the Stew." The merry mix-ups of the McDonald family had the audience thoroughly entertained. The family purchased a dream house on an island, but their dream turned into a nightmare of leaky pipes, yellow-jackets, and even romance.

Senior Class Play

In November, 1959, the Senior Class presented a play entitled "Father of the Bride." It was a riotous comedy concerning a young bride-to-be, Kay Banks, and her changing desires for a large or small wedding. Of course, the greatest burden of Kay's desires fell upon--that's right--Mr. Banks, the father of the bride. Problems evolve around the guest list, the bank balance, Buckley, the young groom, and the caterers for the reception. Finally, just when all seemed to be working out, the young bride changed her mind--twenty minutes before the final ceremony. Just as before, it was father to the rescue, re-assuring his lovely daughter that she had nothing to fear, and that she would live happily ever after.

The play was directed by Mr. Richard Hopkins and Carolyn Aleksa was the student director. The cast of characters is:

"Hawaiian

Couples in their billowing formals and white dinner jackets set sail on May 20 for their "Hawaiian Cruise." The effect of a deck was created by miles and miles of rose and white crepe paper draped across the ceiling. A romantic ocean scene, featuring a shimmering moon, was captured in a 150 foot mural, banked with palms and ferns. The tables, gaily decorated in the Hawaiian motif, faced the ocean scene. The gay couples whirled to the music of Joe Sylvester's Band and were photographed before a mural of interesting Hawaiian symbols.

Prom Cruise"

The grand march led by the class presidents and their dates began at 9:30 P.M. Following the Grand March, Sophomores attired in colorful Hawaiian garb served punch and cookies. The highlight of the evening came when Jack Hoffman and Jean Standley were crowned king and queen of the prom. The Parent-Teachers Association served a buffet dinner at midnight, followed by dancing until 4 A.M., when the boat docked, and the starry-eyed couples took many happy memories home.

Sophomore aids serve punch and cookies.

Hawaiian leis are given to each couple as they enter.

Everyone joins in the grand march to parade past the faculty and administration.

Seventy-six graduates received their diplomas on June 1, 1960, in our gym. They looked stately as they walked up the aisle for the last time, and the faculty was sad to see them leave. After an address by Dr. John Schell, professor of education at Edinboro State College, the seniors received congratulations and best wishes for successful lives.

Awards were presented to outstanding seniors by Mr. Gordon E. Smith, high school principal. Receiving the West Middlesex alumni awards of $100 were Pamela Summerville and Frank Boal. The PTA scholarships of $200 were given to Elaine Moore and James Sagenich. Raymond Bartholomew received a $25 award from the University Club of Farrell, and Philip Young received the Westinghouse Industrial award. The American Legion awards, presented by Mr. Joseph Sherbine and Mrs. Elsie Winters, were given to Elaine Moore and Raymond Bartholomew.
